(54) DICTIONARY REGISTRATION METHOD

(57)Abstract:

PROBLEM TO BE SOLVED: To perform dictionary registration for the large volume of unknown words in a short time by registering the unknown words to be registered in a translation dictionary part and attribute information including the translation words altogether.

SOLUTION: This method is provided with an unknown word retrieval part 9 for retrieving all the unknown words stored in an original text storage part 3, that are words and phrases not housed in the translation dictionary part 5, an unknown word storage part 10 for storing the words and the phrases retrieved by the unknown word retrieval part 9 and the dictionary registration part 11 for registering the words and the phrases stored in the unknown word storage part 10 in the translation dictionary part 5 as new words along with the attribute information including the translation words corresponding to them. By such constitution, the list of the words and the phrases to be registered as the unknown words and the attribute information including the corresponding translation words is prepared first. Then, by registering the respective words and phrases of the list in the translation dictionary part 5 altogether along with the corresponding attribute information, the dictionary registration is efficiently performed by the minimum input operation of many unknown words.
